Dear Parents & Carers,

This week: Thank you to all the parents who came in to discuss how children are settling in to their new year groups and their learning targets. These meetings will be followed up with workshops to give you a flavour of how mathematical methods and other aspects work in more depth so that you can support them as some of the ways in which we are required to teach the children are not necessarily how you were taught as parents.

Year 1 had a fantastic trip to the Docklands where they even got to learn how many windows were in some of those mega structures! Year 6 had a look at ancient mega structures this week with their trip see the Greek galleries at the British Museum.

As if all this wasn't enough, our choir joined Jo Birchall, a pop idol finalist, in singing her new song in front of the school; we even joined in with the fun. The choir will be performing with Jo at St. Katherine's Dock after school today. A fabulous way to start the week!

Thank you for to those parents who donated cakes for Macmillan World's Biggest Coffee Morning today. Thank you to Rachel for organising it once more.

Coming up next week:

We thought we might need a little rest after all this excitement so instead here are some suggestions for the weekend;

- How to Catch a Star by Oliver Jeffers exhibition is on at Discover in Stratford (may include penguins, aliens and rowing boats!) ages 1-6
- For something free, the Big Draw is launched in Hackney V&A museum of Childhood where we might get to meet Jaqueline Wilson, Nick Sharratt and others. All Ages!

All this and more can be found on...

"UrbanExplorer.com" that shows you ten best things for children to do in London including Lego building in Shoreditch and immersive theatre in Greenwich.
