

Weekly Newsletter

Dear Parents / Carers,

I can't believe we have come to the end of this half term. School feels very busy as the children have been weaving with willow, making huge structures that shall at some point be installed in their classrooms. Tim Davies our artist has been with us this week supporting the teachers to teach the pupils and guide them through these art skills.

It has an amazing effect on all of us to have this level of creativity and team work because that is a vital part to the pupils achieving their intended projects. I am sure you will be impressed when you see them and the pride the children feel for making them.

Year 4 have had an even busier week with both their class assembly, sharing their first steps into experimental music as well as their skills in learning violins and cellos, their trip to the Thames Barrier, getting wet because of the rain on the way back! Whilst Year 3 explored how the world works and volcanoes at the Natural History Museum! Stay safe and dry and see you all after the holiday!

Please look for new updated e-safety guidance on our website for Apps and games. Happy valentine's Day!

School Council

Tuck Shop for the Juniors to be re-opened! We are going to re-open our tuck shop. We are in the process of ordering the fruit. This will only be available in the juniors at first play. We will be trying out different suppliers and will need your feedback. We have conducted a survey in school about the fruits people prefer and how many of us would like to have a tuck shop again. There will be some more news on dates and prices coming soon!

Also in the morning and after school, Kingball and ball games will not be allowed. This is because there are little children running about and the ball might hit them. We ask you not to play ballgames at this time.

Lunchtime clubs: We have decided that the rugby club will change to cricket, and now there is an opportunity for children to suggest fun and exciting apps for ICT club to play on at lunchtime. All Apps will be reviewed by school council.
